MRS. HIRAM (EMMA) GRANT

Woman, 106, Oldest in State, Dies

VERMONTVILLE — Mrs. Hiram Grant, the oldest woman in Michigan and possibly the oldest person in the state, died Friday night at her home at 345 E. Main St. She was 106.

Her title as the state's oldest woman was confirmed last May by Michigan Week officials.

Mrs. Grant, the former Emma Olin, was born Jan. 9, 1860, in Chester Township, five miles east of here. She married Hiram Grant on Dec. 3, 1879, in Charlotte. He died in 1940.

During the early years of their married life the couple lived in a farm house on Brown Road northeast of here. They bartered eggs and other farm produce for articles they needed. Wild game provided meat for the table.

They moved to the Main Street address in 1911 and Grant continued farming until he was in his 80s.

Mrs. Grant was bedridden since a fall in July of 1965. She seldom wore glasses and, until recently, enjoyed sewing and making quilts. A blanket for which she carded wool at the age of 14 is a prize family heirloom.

She was interested in community affairs throughout her life and, until six years ago, regularly baked pies for the Vermontville Maple Syrup Festival.

KIN'S GOLDEN FETE

In 1959, Mrs. Grant attended the 50th wedding anniversary of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas McNabb of Sunfield.

She is also survived by a second daughter, Mrs. Jesse Baker of Vermontville; two sons, Grover of Vermontville and Lynn of Newaygo, three grandchildren, 11 great-grandchildren and 13 great-great-grandchildren.

Service will be at 1:30 p.m. Monday at Vogt Funeral Home here, with burial in Woodlawn Cemetery.
