

Announcement

It is with no little pleasure that the Board of Education presents to you this announcement, calling attention to the facilities and advantages of the Vermontville High School. This school has an excellent record. Its thorough instruction, its inherent Puritanic exaltation of character, and the natural result of these combined aims—the high standard of its graduates—have won for this school, among the educational institutions of the state, a standing of which its benefactors are justly proud. Its name is everywhere the recognized synonym for scholarship combined with noble manhood and womanhood.

The year 1901-1902 promises large results. The school's equipment—libraries, laboratories, etc.—has been enlarged and put into the best possible condition for use, and the curriculum has been revised to meet the needs of all. Realizing that a high school is cosmopolitan in its character,—that many young men and young women can spend only one or two years in school work, that a large majority finish their education with the high school, and that others anticipate a college education, the number of required studies has been made as small as possible, while the number of electives has been enlarged. The pupil is thus allowed a choice of subjects suited to his own tastes and inclinations.

If you desire to prepare for college, to fit yourself for teaching or simply to make the most of your school days, we can certainly accommodate you and secure for you a most profitable use of your time. We invite your critical attention.

Admission

Pupils from rural districts are admitted on the eighth grade diploma and students from high schools will be given full credit for all work done. In other cases such examinations will be given as are necessary to determine what grade of work the applicant is prepared to take up.

Graduation

Students will be given diplomas whenever the student shall be credited with thirty-two units (a semester's work constituting a unit) seventeen of which shall be in required subjects.

Examinations, Reports and Credits

Three examinations are given in each semester from which no pupil will be excused.

After each examination, the pupil will receive a report card containing a statement of scholarship and deportment. In determining scholarship, examinations count one-third and recitations two-thirds.

Scholarship is marked E, G, F, P and L. E signifying a standing of 95-100; G, 85-94; F, 75-84; P, 60-74; L, incomplete. At the end of each semester an average standing will be made out for each pupil and an average of 75-100 in any subject, credits the pupil with one unit.

Courses of Instruction and Outline of Studies

LANGUAGE

The end to be attained from a study of the Latin is a culture derived from the investigation of the literature, history, and manners and customs of the ancient Romans. Toward the attainment of this end all study should be directed. The first part of the course, therefore, aims chiefly to ground the pupil thoroughly in the elements and structure of the language, while the last three years, and particularly
